The 1941 was the first to use the famous Cadillac egg-crate grill and it also featured a coffin style hood, integrated torpedo styled body, and a generous amount of chrome trim and accents for a clean and elegant look. This 1941 Cadillac Series 62 Sedan is powered by a 346 CID V8 and is backed by a 3-speed manual "selective synchromesh" transmission. The 346 CID V8 was rated at 150 horsepower and 283 ft./lbs. of torque and was noted for its durability and was even used in tanks during World War II. The exterior is painted in a vibrant red color and a white vinyl top has been put on and looks stunning against the chrome accents and bumpers. The interior has been fitted with red cloth seats and door panels with gray carpeting and headliner. This luxurious Cadillac has plenty of room to sit five adults comfortably with a very spacious front and back seat area. Options on this 1941 Cadillac Series 62 Sedan for sale include: AM Radio, Cloth Interior, Hub Caps, and Wide White Wall Bias Ply Tires. If you are looking for classic car to cruise around in style, this 1941 Cadillac is waiting for you.
